

I am deeply troubled by the FCC would consider deregulation of ownership of broadcast companies. How can we expect truthful and diverse media coverage if the airwaves and newspapers are all controlled by a very small number of very large corporations. Is this the type of climate in which we want our children to have to live. Our very country is based on free speech with a forum for all. It is clear that this right is already being compromised as most Americans do not even know that this ruling is going to take place on June 2. Why? Because none of the major networks or cable news shows are reporting on it. Why? Well, sirs, you can search your own souls to find the answer to that one.
